Getting Involved

Volunteer opportunities with WWOA are as diverse as our members. You can get involved locally at the chapter level, join a committee, help out at the WWOA office, or host a field day or event on your land. If you're a good public speaker or writer, enjoy photography or crafting, are familiar with bookkeeping or a variety of computer software, like planning or hosting events, or you'd like to learn more about any of these, fill out a Volunteer Interest Form and contact the WWOA Volunteer Center. No matter how much or how little time you have to give or the skills you possess, we have opportunities that are a good fit for you!

Steps to Getting Involved:

Types of Opportunities

Short-Term: Help at the Annual Meeting, or come to the WWOA Office for the day. Perfect for those with lots to give but little time.

Ongoing: Join WWOA by serving on a committee, a Chapter Board of Directors or eventually, the State Board of Directors. Or maybe you have an idea for a long-term project that's great for us both.

More information about current or new volunteer opportunities, as well as a list of committees and their descriptions can always be found under the Opportunities option under Get Involved on the WWOA website.

Valuing Your Input & Helping you Grow

Once you've become a valued WWOA volunteer we want to know your thoughts and feelings on what we can do to improve your experience. Help make the WWOA Volunteer Program the best for you and others through your feedback and input. We'll also be available to provide feedback, resources, and recognition to ensure your happiness and success in the volunteer positions that you take on.

A WWOA Story

Jim and Marlene Zdanovec are extremely active with WWOA and in their woodland. They were the 2004 National Outstanding Tree Farmers of the Year. For the past 15 years they have been the Co-Chairs of the WWOA Gift Shop Committee, and they've enjoyed meeting members from across the state. They share their passion and want you to as well.
